Lorenzo Emery, aged 42, was found dead in his bed at Paducah.

Jos P. McGuire, aged 22, was drowned while bathing in the Ohio river at Paducah.

Miss Margaret Wilson has become associal-editor of the Civics Magazine of Madison, Wis

Miss Emma Moxley, aged 18, at Dresden, Tenn., hanged herself over disappointment in a love affair.

The military aviator Sopakine was killed at Gatchina Russia, when an aeroplane he was driving fell.

Senator Camden has been seated next to Senator Jim Ham Lewis, or Hamilton Lewis as he now calls himself.

Eight persons drowned Sunday night at Syracuse, N. Y., when a launch carrying 25 passengers capsized.

In a Sunday School at Columbus, Ind., was asked the question, "Who is the greatest man?" Willie Boyd, a five-year-old, said "Uncle Sam."

John Rudison, a Henderson county farmer, is reported to be fatally wounded as the result of a shotgun duel with a neighbor, who escaped without injury.

The number of lives lost in the mine disaster at Lethbridge, Alberta, was 197, and 95 bodies have so far been recovered. Only 39 of the 236 in the mine got out alive.

The City Commissioners of Lexington are preparing to put a license of $50 on the business of running a newspaper in the city, and the Leader editorially approves the idea. If other occupations are taxed, it says newspapers should ask no special favors.

Nine military aviators were killed and a dirigible balloon and aeroplane were wrecked in a crash between the two air crafts near Vienna Saturday, while they were going through the maneuvers of a sham battle at an elevation of 1,300 feet. The aeroplane accidentally ripped the balloon, causing the explosion.

Secretary Houston has decided "what is wine?" by ruling that wine is the "product of the normal alcoholic fermentation of the juice of the fresh, sound, ripe grapes, with the usual cellar treatment." The new decision provides that where any water is added to the pomace of grapes, it is not permissible to label the product "otherwise than as imitation wine," and effects all wines made after June 12, 1914.

Kentucky should be proud of Senator Ollie James. In point of influence and ability, Kentucky has never had since the days of Henry Clay so potential a Senator. He commands the admiration of the entire country by his splendid service to his party. He is today the one Senator upon whom President Wilson relies more than any other, and has justified this confidence. In his recent speech in support of the Panama Canal bill Ollie James towered above all the other Senators like a mighty oak over chinquepin bushes. In the vernacular of the day he made Senator O'Gorman and those who interrupted him, look like thirty cents. It was a great speech that the Senator from Kentucky made, and again demonstrated to the country that he is the real Democratic leader of the Senate. No matter what position Senator James has been put in he has invariably measured up to the full responsibility of it and has conducted himself that he has come out of every fight with added laurels and increased reputation. We repeat it, that Ollie James wields the greatest influence in this country, from his seat in the United States Senate, of any Kentucky Senator since the days of Henry Clay.—Elizabethtown News.

STIRRED UP HORNET'S NEST

Chautauqua Superintendent Alford Criticises Ministers.

OPPOSED TO SUNDAY LID. Ridiculed Moral Tone of Affairs Found In Hopkinsville.

Manager Alford of the Redpath Chautauqua Saturday afternoon severely criticised Hopkinsville for putting the lid on Sunday programs.

He declared that the preachers who had brought it about, themselves took up collections in their churches on Sunday and that the town that put on such righteous airs had 22 saloons and permitted Sunday baseball. Many of his remarks about the city were very uncomplimentary and in exceedingly bad taste, in view of the fact that the sale of seats was larger than last year, and the program had been officially accepted by the Chautauqua people. Mr. Alford aroused much antagonism among the religious element by his attack.

Rev. A. R. Kasey, of the Methodist church, attempted to reply, but was denied the opportunity. As a result, Mr. Kasey replied to the attack in his own pulpit Sunday morning, denying the statement that Sunday ball was played here, or that the churches were run for money on Sunday or at any other time. Other ministers had something to say along the same line, and Mr. Alford succeeded in drawing forth much unpleasant comment in and out of the pulpit.

At the First Baptist church the following resolutions were adopted by the congregation concerning the Chautauqua Managers:

Whereas The civil authorities of this city and the churches of this city have never countenanced or encouraged public amusements and entertainments to be given in this city on the Sabbath for profit, and Whereas, Members of the local Chautauqua Committee and members of the Ministerial Association of this city were publicly criticised for their opposition to public entertainments by the Redpath Chautauqua Bureau, by the superintendent and speakers of the said Chautauqua, and who also made false statements about the affairs of this city, and refused an honored member of the Ministerial Association to be heard,

Therefore, Be it Resolved by the Congregation of the First Baptist Church of the City of Hopkinsville that the conduct of the superintendent and speakers of the said Chautauqua was discourteous in the extreme, and unworthy of the superintendent and lecturers of a great institution for public education and entertainment.

And be it further resolved that the action of the local Chautauqua Committee and of the Ministerial Association, of this city be and the same is endorsed,

And be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the local papers for publication.

GEO. D. DALTON,

H. H. ABERNATHY,

JOHN C. DUFFY,

Committee.

Yesterday morning Mr. Alford mentioned the matter again and said the remarks made by the ministers were not of enough importance to merit his attention. He said there were 25 cities clamoring for Chautauqua entertainments and they could get along without Hopkinsville and did not purpose to try to sell any more tickets here. Hopkinsville could allow cigars and soda water sold until eleven o'clock and still didn't want Chautauqua entertainments on Sunday and they would not try to come back again next year.

Miss Emma Leigh Cowherd, of Gracey, is spending the week with Miss Nora Golladay, on W. 18th st.

LAST DAY'S PROGRAM OF THE CHAUTAUQUA

Chautauqua Week Will Close With Tonight's Features. Kryl's Band Yesterday Took The Place of The Sunday Program Called Off.

Today's Program.

MORNING.

Children's Hour, Miss Miller. Morning Lecture, "The School Bell's Challenge," Mr. Clark.

AFTERNOON.

Concert, Kellogg-Haines Singing Party. Lecture, "Color Line and Picket Guard," Montaville Flowers.

EVENING.

Light Opera. Kellogg-Haines Singing Party.

The crowds at the Chautauqua have been larger from day to day and the audiences have been delighted with the programs they have the opportunity of enjoying.

One of the happy features of the Chautauqua is the children's playground work under direction of Miss Miller. Saturday Miss Miller took the children to Virginia street school and told them many novel ways of making use of the playground equipment there.

Saturday's program was for the most part a musical nature. In the afternoon Marcus Kellerman, the celebrated dramatic baritone, pleased his audience with a musical recital. Following this Mr. Clark delivered his lecture on "Marriage and After." At night the Cathedral Choir gave a delightful musical program. The music was of a high class and was a treat to the musiclovers of Hopkinsville.

Monday was the big day. In the morning Bohumir Kryl and his band furnished a delightful musical program. Kryl's band is a favorite wherever it goes and is one of the decided features of the Chautauqua. Mr. Kryl also rendered several solos on the cornet. He is one of the most famous cornetists in the world and his numbers were highly enjoyed.

In the afternoon the musical numbers were furnished by Misses Neff and Harlan. They rendered a half hour musical program on the piano and violin that met with the highest approval. After this Strickland W Gillilan in his very original lecture "Sunshine and Awkwardness." Mr. Gillilan is one of the greatest humorists on the lecture platform today. He gave an unique and highly interesting lecture that was much appreciated.

Monday night was Children's Night and the little folks certainly enjoyed themselves to the highest degree. A short musical program was given by the Farnelli Company. This was followed by Hal Merton, who did many wonderful slight of hand tricks and mystified his audience by his ability in the magic art. Mr. Merton's program also contained many novel and original features.

Geo. E. Colby finished up the program with a series of cartoons. His funny pictures kept the audience in a constant uproar of laughter. He concluded his entertainment with a beautiful picture concerning which he told a charming little story.

Today will be the concluding day of the Chautauqua here. This morning Mr. Clark will discuss "The School Bell's Challenge."

This afternoon the Kellogg-Haines singing party will give a concert and this will be followed by a lecture by Montaville Flowers, "Color Guard and Picket Line." This is a discussion of the Japanese question.

Tonight the Kellogg-Haines Company will appear in a program of light opera. There are five in the singing party and their program will be one of the most enjoyable events of the week.

New Wheat Already Being Received On Local Market.

THRESHING IS IN PROGRESS.

The Finest Crop Ever Harvested, Universal Opinion.

New wheat is coming in and the local market has opened at 75 cents for No. 2 wheat, for June delivery. Threshers started the middle of last week in sections that were still dry and they began all over the county yesterday. All reports are that the crop is the best for many years.

The first new wheat delivered at the Acme Mills was by Atkins Bros. on June 18th. It was bought at 75 cents, and up to yesterday was the only load received by that mill.

At the Crescent Mills several loads had come in and the same price was paid.

GYMNASIUM BATH POOL

To Be Utilized By The Young People Driven From The River.

HUGH NELSON IN CHARGE.

Swimming Privileges Obtained And Classes Will Be Taught At College.

Hugh Nelson, who was custodian of Edgewater Park the last two years, and had the boating and bathing privilege, has been unsuccessful in inducing the present City Council to permit the bathing resort to be operated this season, and has leased the swimming pool in McLean College for the season. The clamor for a place to bath and to learn to swim has been so great that Mr. Nelson will do the best he can in a small way and so began business yesterday teaching swimming classes. The refusal to let the river be filled with water this season has been a great disappointment to the people who have enjoyed bathing and boating the last two summers for a mile and a quarter on the river, during the heated term. The pool at the College is now the only place available for a swim in anything larger than a bath tub.

Mediation Rumors.

Mediation proceedings at Niagara Falls will be prolonged, it was announced after Minister Naon's return from Washington. President Wilson authorized the statement that he regarded the prospects of mediation as more hopeful. Friction between Carranza and Villa and the report that Huerta would resign in favor of Lascruain before the proceedings reached a conclusion affected the mediators in their decision, it is stated.

subject to action of the democratic primary August, 1914.

Stanley will "dedicate" the new Court House in Shelbyville on the first Monday in July.

Huerta has hired a New York lawyer and is evidently proposing to plead guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the court.

The doctors have examined Col.
Roosevelt's throat and passed a death sentence on him by telling him that he mustn't talk any this summer.

The reported attempt to blow up the royal family of Russia was exaggerated. The explosion under a postal train preceding the czar's coach, was found to be due to a defect in the locomotive.

If Stanley is elected Senator, he will be like Ollie James, a full-grown Senator when he enters. It will not be necessary for him to go through a course of probation before beginning the work for which long experience in the House has qualified him.

In spite of all efforts to conceal the facts, the revolt inside the constitutionalist ranks is a fact. Fifteen generals have signed a repudiation of the leadership of Carranza and declared their allegiance to the bandit Villa, who has no semblance of civil government to back him.

Queen Alexandria has come out of retirement and has filled Marlborough House with guests and is having a gay social season than England, has seen in a long time. The pace the old lady is setting is said to be a great annoyance to George and Mary, who are noted for their economy in court expenses.

L. C. Dyer, of St. Louis, Republican, representing the Twelfth Missouri district, was unseated by the house Friday by a vote of 141 to 98.
His election was contested by Michael J. Gill, Democrat. Then by a vote of 126 to 108, a resolution declaring Gill legally elected was adopted. Mr. Gill immediately took the oath of office.

Gen. Bennett H. Young, who rode with Morgan on the famous Ohio raid, has published a book giving a history of the military campaigns of all the Confederate cavalry commanders. Stuart, Forrest, Morgan, Wheeler, Hampton, Fitz Lee, etc. Gen.
Young calls his book the "Wizards of the Saddle." A thrilling chapter of the book is that devoted to a description of the battle of Tishomingo Creek, or Bryce's Cross Roads.

The North Carolina supreme court has decided that a law against profanity is not violated when no one but a policeman hears the cursing and that to be an offense it must be heard by numbers of persons and create a disturbance. The opinion for the court was written by Judge Walker, who specified that the court is not called upon in this case to pass on whether or not using the word
"damn" is cursing under the law.

NOT A NATION OF SAVERS

In the Matter of Thrift the United States is Far Behind European Countries.

A table prepared by Dr. Henry S.
Williams for Moody's Magazine places the United States at the bottom of a list of 15 countries as a nation of savers. The comparison is on the number of savings bank depositors per thousand of population and ranges from 554 in Switzerland to 99 in this country. Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Belgium and New Zealand follow the Swiss. France leads the big nations, then come Holland, Germany, England, Australia, Japan and Italy.

Our 10,800,000 depositors, with their $4,728,000,000 deposits, or almost $440 per depositor, may be contrasted with Germany's 22,500,000 depositors with but $4,942,000,000, or only $189 per head. The United Kingdom has almost 15,000,000 depositors, but only a little over $1,250,000,000. France has nearly as many depositors with a couple of hundred millions less, but this takes no account of the investments of French thrift. Russia has 8,000,000 depositors, but only $800,000,000 between them. Austria has 6,500,000, with about the same amount as Great Britain. Italy has as many depositors as Russia, but with one-fourth more deposits. Japan has about 20,000,000 depositors, but they do not average $9.
The savings habit, it can be seen, is very much more general abroad where the opportunity is very much less.
Three-fourths of our saving is being done in the New England and Eastern States. Then come the Middle West, the Pacific Coast, the South and the Western States.

BIG WORDS ENTIRELY WASTED

Brother Stookey's Better Half Found

Profitable Maine Industry.

Annually about fifteen thousand pounds of spruce gum are gathered in Maine, and practically all of the crop is harvested in March. Gum pickers earn from one to six dollars a day, and as the crop never fails they do fairly well.
The Maine crop is larger than all the other states combined produce. The gum picker wears steel climbing spurs on his boots and in his belt he carries a light hatchet. Strapped to his waist is a bag with a wide mouth for the reception of the gum. Climbing a tree, the picker proceeds from limb to limb, chipping off the lumps of gum as he finds them, until he reaches the top.
Most of the gum is caught in the wide open bag as it falls from the tree, while all that goes to the ground stands out in such relief upon the snow that it is easily picked up.

Just Had to Lay.

A quaint little story is told of the early days of Miss Inez Milholland,
"the most beautiful suffragette in America," as she has been called.

According to her father, it seems that even as a baby she was very strong-willed. One day her nurse came in despair to Mrs. Milholland and announced that she had found Inez on the top of a haystack and that the child flatly refused to come down.

Mrs. Milholland sallied forth to see what she could do in the matter, but all her coaxing was in vain.

To her mother's entreaties Inez replied, firmly: "There's a nasty old hen up here that won't lay her eggs and I'm going to make her do it!"

Knots in Harness.

To loosen knots in harness, straps, cords, ropes, or even shoe strings, hammer the knot on all sides with a mallet or a piece of wood, turning the strap or rope around, then dip in boiling water, holding it there a minute or two, according to size of knot to be loosened. Before doing so add a little soap to the water, then with a sharply pointed instrument pick the knot loose. It can often be done with the fingers. Knots that have been pulled in harness or ropes for months or years can be loosened readily.

FORCED TO SERVE TERM

Strange Story of Substitution Told by Prisoner at San Quentin.

San Francisco, June 18.—Peter A. Grimes, convicted of forgery in Shanghai and on his way to San Quentin penitentiary in California, shanghaied Alfred Johansen, a Norwegian sailor, in Nagasaki, Japan, substituted the sailor for himself and escaped, according to information developed to-day in an investigation by Federal officers.

Not until Johansen in a cell at San Quentin told his story to a fellow Norwegian was it discovered that an innocent man was probably serving the three-year term of Grimes. Johansen, who does not speak English, told his story through an interpreter. He said: "Ashore from my ship at Nagasaki, I was in a saloon and drank with three men, who approached me. After two drinks with them I remember nothing until I woke up in irons between decks on a ship. I tried to explain, but no one understood me."

It was found that Grimes, under the name of James H. Rodgers, had served a term in San Quentin before and was released August 10, 1913. Prison officials looked at Johansen and then at a photograph of Grimes, alias Rodgers. There was a resemblance, but they were clearly different men.

When Johansen saw the pictures of the former convict he said: "That is one of the three men I drank with in Nagasaki."

Johansen arrived here under guard on the transport Sheridan. The transport officials are positive he is the man delivered to them at Nagasaki by Prison Keeper Kilgore of Shanghai as Peter A. Grimes. While at San Quentin Grimes, or Rodgers, was a private secretary to former Warden John C. Hoyle. He was an expert stenographer. His parents are said to live in Pittsburgh, Pa., and to be wealthy.

Susan McReynolds, a colored sick nurse, while temporarily suffering from something like vertigo, at her home, tumbled into an uncovered cistern from which she was drawing water. The water was not deep enough to drown her, but on the other hand quickly revived her of the fainting spell and she was able to get her head above water. Her daughter, a grown girl, heard the splash and ran to the cistern and wringing her hands threatened to throw herself into the cistern and die with mammy. At this juncture mammy called out "Shut up you fool, and go and get somebody to pull me out of here." She was pulled out.

That is why Hopkinsville people demand the genuine.

Mrs. J. E. O'Daniel, 603 O'Neal St., Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "I suffered from pains in my back and sides and other troubles caused by weak kidneys. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in the papers, I got a box and used them as directed. They quickly cured me. I know that they are the best kidney remedy to be had. I often advise friends and acquaintances to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

JACK JOUETT'S RIDE TO SAVE JEFFERSON.

The average visitor to Monticello finds himself more or less familiar with every object to be seen there, due to his reading or to what he has heard. There is one thing at Jefferson's home, however, that rarely fails to puzzle the visitor; and strangely enough, too, because it has perhaps the greatest historical significance of all.

It is the tunnel through which Jefferson, then Governor of Virginia, crawled on his hands and knees in response to Jack Jouett's warning and successfully eluded the British soldiers who were after him.

The story of Jack Jouett's ride is not generally known, and is rarely if ever mentioned in text books or histories. But for the important happenings connected with it, it possesses great historical interest, and for thrilling features it equals the wildest flights of fiction. Jouett was directly responsible for preventing the capture of the Virginia assembly and the detention of many eminent men of that body, and he also enabled Jefferson to escape capture from Talbot's dragoons who had raided Monticello.

Jack Jouett kept the Old Swan Tavern in Charlottesville. He did not attend particularly to business, spending a great deal of time on his plantation in the neighboring Louisa county and in driving fast horses. But the tavern was so aptly conducted by his housekeeper that it became famous, and the members of the legislature in Albemarle county, who lived too far away to ride to the meeting place from their own plantations, always put up there.

At the time of the ride Cornwallis was ravaging parts of Virginia, and aided by Tarleton's cavalry, was striking terror into the hearts of the country people. Because the capital, Richmond, was threatened by this force, the assembly hastily adjourned to Charlottesville. Among the distinguished members of the assembly were Patrick Henry, Richard Henry Lee, Benjamin Harrison and many others almost as prominent, whose capture would have been a severe blow to the nation. Thomas Jefferson was at the time Governor of Virginia, and his term of office expired four days after his narrow escape from capture.

Jouett was riding to his plantation one day when he saw a glint of color through the trees. He cleared the fence and caught sight of a trooper of Tarleton's command. Jouett drove him to a farmhouse and, though he threatened the cavalryman's life, he could learn only that Tarleton himself was in the neighborhood. Determining to find out Tarleton's plans, Jouett charged clothes with the dragoon and rode on to the Cuckoo Tavern. He arrived very late and lay down for a few hours' sleep.

The noise made by Tarleton and his men dismounting and entering awakened Jouett, who slipped out and listened through the blind to the conversation carried on by the officers in the dining room. In imminent danger of detection, even though protected by a British uniform, he listened only long enough to find out that the British leader intended to wait for the rest of the troops to come up to have breakfast, and then push on to capture the members of the assembly, who were then in session in Charlottesville.

Jouett's horse was tired from exertions of the day before and as he decided to take a longer but deserted road in preference to the short one, as he knew that the landlord's fresh horses could outdistance him. At one place the new road crossed the old one and here some troopers espied him. They pursued him for twenty minutes, but he eluded them and reached Monticello at 8 o'clock. He had made twenty-seven miles in an hour and three-quarters. In a moment he had warned Jefferson that the British were near at hand, obtained a fresh horse and had started on his way for Charlottesville.

Jouett made this place his destination in order to warn the members of the legislature, who were preparing for an early session. Charlottesville being only five miles from Monticello, he arrived there quickly and apprised the legislature of its peril. When the British cavalry rode up at 10 a. m. the members were on their way to Staunton.

In the meantime Jefferson made his historic escape from Monticello. He first sent his wife and children away in a carriage to Edward Carter's place, which was about six miles distant. He barely managed to leave the house himself by the underground passageway before the British dragoons rode up.

In the meantime Jouett had ridden into Charlottesville and went directly to his own tavern, where old Gen. Stevens of the Continental Army was lying wounded. He meant to save the old man from capture if possible, and so dressed him in a suit of homespun, put him on Jefferson's horse with the help of a stableman and propped him up with sacks of grain. Jouett himself again changed to the continental uniform, for it was part of his plan to be pursued.

The two had ridden only a short way down the road, after seeing Jack's Tavern burned by the troopers, when they were pursued by the British horse. Jouett waived his hand disdainfully at them which drew their whole attention to him, while Gen. Stevens was left safe by the road. Jouett's fast Kentucky mare speedily outdistanced his pursuers and that night he joined Washington's army. The news that Cornwallis was deprived of the services of his cavalry proved of value to the continental leader, who shortly afterward penned him up in Yorktown and finally forced his surrender.

A complimentary resolution was tendered Jouett by Congress as a reward for his services and the Virginia assembly, which he had saved from capture, presented him with a sword and a pair of pistols. Jouett was averse to discussing his exploit, and this helps to explain why so few books mentioned him and so few people have ever heard of him.

The only monument to this patriot is a memorial tablet in the Redland Club in Charlottesville, which stands on the site of the old Swan Tavern.

PLEASANT HEARING FOR BILL

Deacon Wilkins Certainly Did Not Mince Matters in Speaking of Brand Plucked From Burning.

A revival was going on in a certain Kansas town and Bill Perkins was among those who professed conversion, relates Tom McNeal. When Bill went forward Deacon Wilkins, a steadfast and plain spoken pillar of the church, was asked to lead in prayer. He addressed the following petition to the throne of grace:
"Lord, we thank thee that our neighbor, Bill Perkins, has seen the error of his ways and decided to turn from the highway of sin and try to follow the straight and narrow path that leads to life everlasting. I assume, oh Lord, that Bill means it, and I want you to help him. He needs it. Help him to speak the truth. You know, if you have paid any attention to Bill, that he is the greatest liar that ever came down the pike, and he will have to have your help, and a lot of it, if his word is to be depended on from this time forward."—Kansas City Journal.

FOUGHT THEIR SHIP BRAVELY

Commander and Crew of Old Frigate Essex Had Nothing to Reproach Themselves For.

One hundred years ago the United States frigate Essex, in command of Capt. David Porter, was captured in the harbor of Valparaiso, Chile, by the British frigate Phoebe and sloopof-war Cherub. After a long cruise in southern waters, in the course of which a number of prizes had been captured, the Essex had arrived at Valparaiso on February 3. A few days later the British warships appeared in the harbor. The neutrality of the port was not violated, and on March 28 the Essex attempted to escape to sea. She was immediately attacked by the British ships and after a desperate engagement that lasted two hours and a half, the Essex was reduced to a wreck and struck her colors, 58 of her crew being killed and as many more wounded. Captain Porter, in acknowledging the defeat to the secretary of the navy, said: "We have been unfortunate, but not disgraced."

DISCOVERS FLAMELESS POWDER.

After years of experimenting a young Florentine chemist named Guido Fei claims to have discovered a flameless powder which causes no erosion of the tubes of even the largest cannon. He says it is superior in carrying power to any other powder. In an experiment in the presence of scientists and representatives of the army in a room which had been completely darkened Fei fired a revolver loaded with his powder and there was not the slightest flash.

HOW OLD IS A "DEWEY"?

It wasn't a case of "How old is Ann?" but "How old is Dewey?" Miss Isabelle Somerville, probation officer of the juvenile court, was asked regarding the age of a colored boy. She smiled and replied: "Well, his name is Dewey.
That ought to tell you about how old he is." It is a safe guess, according to Miss Somerville, to place the ages of all "Deweys" at about fifteen years.

LIFE'S LITTLE DECEPTIONS.

"What's the matter with you?"
"Tango toe?"
"But you never danced the tango in your life!"
"Not so loud. There's no reason for letting everybody know I dropped a bucket of coal on my foot."

SPORTSMANLIKE.

"What happened when Bumps fractured his skull in yesterday's game?"
"The other side immediately forged a head."—William Purple Cow.

WHY NOT PAINT 'EM ON?

"Anyhow, there's one advantage in having a wooden leg," said the veteran.

"What's that?" asked his friend.
"You can hold your socks up with thumb tacks."—Technical World.

CONDENSED TRAGEDIES.

"I frequently find my wife poring cook book."

"Why do you call it that?"
"Because not more than one in ten of those pieces come out right."

CENTENARY OF GREAT EVENT

Natives of India Honored Memory of Missionary Who Taught Their Ancestors.

Few events grip the heart and interest of man sufficiently to command, after 100 years, an international, or even national, recognition. In purely secular circles the fact that Adoniram Judson landed on Indian shores 100 years ago may excite little interest, but to the Christian world it was an event second to but few in the history of the Christian church.

At the opening service more than 3,000 native Christians filled to overflowing the two largest audience rooms in Rangoon, while hundreds were turned away for want of room.

The second session was given to reminiscences of Judson by those who had seen him. It was notable that of the five living missionaries who had seen Judson all were women. These were followed by a simultaneous prayer service, it having been arranged that at the same hour in America and all Baptist mission fields they should unite with the great centennial gathering in simultaneous prayer.

The music of the entire celebration was in charge of two choirs, a Burman and a Karen, which rendered the most difficult English anthems, quartets and solos, to the great delight and admiration of all present.

After three days at Rangoon the scene of the celebration was transferred to Moumein for two days, and then to Mandalay and other places of interest, closing at Bassein on December 30.—Christian Herald.

TOO MUCH FOR HER PATIENCE

Daughter Was Used to Strangers
Bothering Her Mother, But Here
She Drew the Line.

Veteran of three suffragette parades and as many D. A. R. campaigns as she was, she completely lost her poise in an upper Broadway street car, relates the New York Times. A well-groomed woman of at least forty summers and a two-slit skirt, left her seat on the opposite side of the car and took that directly in front of the young veteran and her mother.

"Pardon me," began the newcomer, addressing the elder of the two, "I'm in trouble about my canary bird. He doesn't sing, mopes on his perch, and has completely lost his appetite. You look so like a woman who solves her own household problems that I have taken the liberty to ask you about one of mine. What shall I do for my canary?"

"Take him to a bird doctor," snapped the daughter.

Mother and questioner alike gasped in astonishment.

"I don't seriously object when strange women ask my mother's advice as to what they should buy while she is trying to do her own shopping," continued the younger woman, "where to find a good dentist, how to make a harem skirt out of an old sealskin jacket, or the best way to make bread.
She is so maternally and good-natured.
But I draw the line at trying to make a bird doctor out of her."

If a Naturalist Painted.

If I were to paint the short days of winter I should paint two towering icebergs approaching each other like promontories, for morning and evening, with cavernous recesses, and a solitary traveler wrapping his cloak about him and bent forward against the driving storm, just entering the narrow pass. I would paint the light of a taper at midday, seen through a cottage window, half buried in snow and frost. . . . In the foreground should appear the harvest, and far in the background, through the pass, should be seen the sowers in the fields and other evidences of spring. On the right and left of the approaching icebergs the heavens should be shaded off from the light of midday to midnight with its stars, the sun being low in the sky.—Henry David Thoreau.

Sheffield Cutlery Lags.

Sheffield is famed throughout the world for its cutlery, but this is no longer the city's chief or even secondary industry. In the finest class of cutlery Sheffield probably still excels, but good scissors from Germany are now sold in the English town for less money than the grinding of the competing article alone costs in Sheffield.
The leading cutlery firm, doing a world export trade, operates without the use of a telephone, and another, of equal fame, occupies quarters of the most primitive character. It is in the production of armaments and ship material that Sheffield now stands to the fore.

New Zealand Wireless.

Two high power wireless stations at Awanui, in the extreme north of New Zealand, and at Awarua, in the extreme south, have just been opened for business. Tests made have indicated that messages may be sent and received at Awanui and Awarua over a distance of several thousand miles.
There are now six wireless stations under the control of the dominion, comprising those at Chatham Islands, Awarua, Awanui, Wellington, Auckland postoffice, and Auckland exhibition.

I'm bound to say that they will not,
but that is their one fault."

MEN IN MIND IN HOPKINSVILLE

People of Prominence In The Pearl City of The Penny-royal.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 25.

Booker, The Baker, Who Books Orders For Bread Buyers.

Here we have the man who deals in the "Staff of Life." Many a home has been broken up for the lack of good bread. Many a family relies upon the baker for the good bread it gets, because not all future housekeepers had the advantage of a domestic science course. There are some families of this kind in Hopkinsville, as there are in every large city, and the baker becomes a very useful citizen. If the baker himself is not on everybody's tongue, the bread he makes is liable to be in somebody's mouth every day. Therefore it behooves every town to have at least one baker who is "on to his job." And that is where Hopkinsville, a Johnny-on-the-spot town, makes a ten-strike. The fat friend you see here is the baker and the picture was made "after taking" a plate full of his celebrated hot rolls. Read how we got him.

Dallas M. Booker was born a "barefooted boy" in Hickman county, Tenn., in 1874, the year of the big drouth, when all crops were poor. Consequently Dallas got such a poor start that he still works for a living. As soon as he got big enough to strike out for himself he went to Union City and held down a job for three years. Then he went to Nashville and learned some more about making bread. In 1897 he got tired of excitement and in hunting for a quiet place to settled down landed in Clarksville. About the only thing he remembers happening while he was there was that he cut his wisdom teeth and at once decided to make two prestos. One was to get married and the other was to get out of Clarksville. And so it happened that he came to Hopkinsville in 1902 and opened up a bakery next door to the Kentuckian office, in order to get close to the fountain head of knowledge. He staid there until he needed larger quarters and then moved to his present stand on Ninth street, where he is making bread that makes your mouth water and cakes equal to those your mother used to make and keep hid in the pantry. His specialties are cream bread, salt-rising bread, graham bread, cakes and confections.

His capacity is 5,000 loaves in ten hours and his orders keep him hustling all the time, although some fat men don't like to work around a big oven in hot weather.

Mr. Booker is fortunate in having a wife who is half the battle. She sells the bread as fast as he can make it and as a natural sequence to an organization like that, his business is wonderfully prosperous. And the little Bookers are all born bakers and begin to help mamma as soon as they can see over the counter.

Mr. Booker is something of a lodge man and holds membership in the Eagles and Woodmen of the World.

JOE WOLFE POLICEMAN

Former Officer Is Chosen To Fill Vacancy on The Force.

The Council met Friday night with seven members present and five vacancies.

J. L. [Carden, elected policeman, was reported ineligible and Joe Wolfe, a former officer, was agreed upon] for appointment by Mayor Yost, without further controversy over filling the vacancy.

Nothing was done about filling the vacancies in the membership of the Council.

The mayor reported that the shortages in the accounts of city tax collectors had been adjusted. John W. Richards had paid the small amount found due from him in checking over his books and J. D. Higgins, collector in 1911 and 1912, turned in about $1,858 to square his account on final settlement.

The recent compromise with Woolridge & Co., of the suit growing out of the hauling on the Tenth street sewer, was ratified by the Council. The amount was $160.

EDITOR SHOT LEGISLATOR

Newspaper Man Was Struck By Cane In Hands Of Victim.

Nashville, Tenn., June 19.—In a fight before a large crowd at the court house in Paris, Tenn., this morning John R. Rison, editor of the Paris Post-Intelligencer, shot and wounded W. E. Weldon, a member of the lower house of the Tennessee legislature, and clerk and master of the chancery court and a leading banker of Paris.

The difficulty started in Rison's office at the court house where Rison refused to print an announcement of Weldon's candidacy for the legislature unless the latter paid for it in advance.

Weldon struck Rison with a walking stick and Rison drew a revolver and fired. A rough and tumble fight continued on the floor, but it was finally stopped by the spectators.

Another Awful Mine Horror, Was This Time In Canada.

Lethbridge, Alberta, June 21.—A mighty explosion Friday entombed 236 miners employed in mine No. 20 of the Hill Crest collieries, limited. Of the 141 miners rescued, only 39 were living.

Despite the efforts of two score mine experts laboring amid the poisoned gases and debris, hope of rescuing alive the 95 met yet in the mine was remote.

The effects of the disaster were: Men in mine when explosion occurred, 600, of whom 364 escaped. Number rescued, of whom 36 died later.

Miners still entombed, 102, probably killed by fire which followed the explosion.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
